

Flexible financial protection for temporary and contract staff

Provide a valuable benefit and stand out from your competitors

Financial protection for those who really need it

Many temporary and contract staff enjoy the freedom and variety of working on temporary assignments or fixed term contracts. However, they are less likely to be provided with the same level of protection or benefits package typically offered to permanent employees.

This potentially leaves them exposed to a significant financial risk if they are unable to work due to a serious workplace accident or injury.

Jobson James, in partnership with Chubb, offers a range of flexible and affordable insurance solutions designed to provide financial protection following a workplace accident that results in temporary or permanent disability, or even accidental death.

Differentiate your business from your competitors

Making personal accident protection available to temporary and contract staff not only helps protect their financial security, it also helps you to differentiate your business from your competitors.

You will be able to demonstrate a duty of care for those workers you place with your customers, setting your business apart from your competitors.

Dependent upon how you choose to establish a programme, the administration costs for the cover can be recouped, whilst still providing cover for your workers at a very affordable rate.

Affordable and flexible protection

With cover starting from as little as a few pence each day, we can help you provide a suitable package of personal accident benefits tailored to the protection needs of your temporary workers and contractors.

Generous benefit levels

Cover can offer a range of benefits following a workplace accident, providing both a regular income and/or a generous tax-free lump sum payment in the event of permanent total disability. A range of additional benefits and services can help with getting individuals back to work more quickly or to support them in both their rehabilitation and retraining following a serious workplace accident.

Flexible and compliant enrolment model

We recognise that our customers face different challenges when implementing a benefits programme and can help you to overcome them. We offer a voluntary enrolment model and take on the burden of ensuring your programme is attractive, fair and compliant.

Sales and marketing support

Jobson James and Chubb can provide sales and marketing support to promote the cover to your temporary/contract workers and integrate it within your wider offer.
